The narrative unfolds primarily through the perspectives of Neil Klugman, a working-class young man, and Brenda Patimkin, a sophisticated, affluent young woman. Their summer romance forms the core of the story, but the true conflict lies in the vast chasm between their backgrounds and aspirations.

- Neil's Struggle for Acceptance: Neil, acutely aware of his less privileged background, grapples with feelings of inadequacy when confronted with Brenda's upper-middle-class world. He witnesses firsthand the casual wealth and privilege that he can only dream of. This forms a major thematic thread throughout the novel.
