FAQ

Q1: How often should I descale my Keurig K575 B31?

A1: The frequency of descaling depends on your water hardness. The Keurig instruction manual B31 recommends descaling every 3-6 months, or more frequently if you notice a decrease in brewing performance or mineral buildup. Using distilled water will lessen the frequency of descaling.

Q2: What type of water should I use in my Keurig?

A2: The Keurig instruction manual B31 recommends using fresh, cold, filtered water for the best taste and to minimize mineral buildup. Avoid using hot water or tap water with high mineral content.

Q3: Can I use reusable K-Cups with my Keurig K575 B31?

A3: Yes, you can use reusable K-Cups. However, make sure they are compatible with your Keurig model and properly cleaned to avoid clogging. Always refer to the Keurig instruction manual B31 for any specific warnings or recommendations.

Q4: What should I do if my Keurig K575 B31 displays an error code?

A4: Consult the troubleshooting section of your Keurig instruction manual B31 for a list of error codes and their solutions. If the problem persists, contact Keurig customer support.

Q5: How do I clean the K-Cup needle?

A5: The Keurig instruction manual B31 usually details how to clean the K-Cup needle, often involving a small brush or tool. Regular cleaning prevents clogging and ensures optimal brewing performance.

Q6: Where can I find replacement parts for my Keurig K575 B31?

A6: Replacement parts are typically available on the Keurig website, through authorized retailers, or via online marketplaces. The Keurig instruction manual B31 might provide links or contact information.

Q7: My coffee is too weak. What can I do?

A7: Try using a stronger roast K-Cup pod, or consider using the strongest brew setting available. The Keurig instruction manual B31 explains how to adjust brew strength.

Q8: How do I dispose of used K-Cups?

A8: Dispose of used K-Cups according to your local recycling guidelines. Some municipalities have programs for recycling K-Cups, or you can find third-party options for recycling or composting. Check your local guidelines or Keurig's website for further details.
